

List of Lanchester Library databases compatible with EndNote

Many of the Library databases will allow you to download references into an EndNote library in one of two ways:

1. Direct Export – downloads references into EndNote straight from the database. (Databases which allow this function have an EndNote icon  beside their name in the eLibrary.)
2. Import – references must be saved as a text (.txt) file and then imported into EndNote using the correct filter.

Use this list to find out whether a database uses export or import and which filter is needed.

If you have any questions please email Chris Bark (c.bark@coventry.ac.uk).
